Energiequelle GmbH receives the Certificate of Excellence from the Corporate Health Awards for outstanding health management

The international project developer secures the most prestigious award for corporate health management in Germany

Kallinchen, 30 Januar 2024. Energiequelle GmbH has received the Certificate of Excellence in the competition for the Corporate Health Award and has thus been recognized for its outstanding company health management. The Corporate Health Award is the most prestigious award for company health management in Germany. It is awarded annually to companies that offer a very good standard in terms of occupational health and safety, health promotion and integration management. The certificate proves that Energiequelle has established an excellent company health management system that is one of the best in Germany.

In an application process followed by an audit at the main site in Kallinchen (near Berlin), Energiequelle GmbH was able to impress with its wide range of services. For example, the company, which is internationally committed to the expansion of renewable energies, provides all employees with a health budget that can be used for various health-promoting measures. A health day is held every two years and regular training courses on the topic of health help managers to develop their self-management and leadership skills. Through the cooperation with Wellpass, employees can use over 7,500 fitness and wellness facilities and the cooperation with the Fürstenberg Institute gives all employees the opportunity to obtain anonymous advice and further assistance in the event of problems of any kind.

Kristin Herrmann, Head of Human Resources, is proud of the assessment: "The award confirms the work we have put into developing our health management system in recent years. It is important to us to provide our employees with the best possible support to strengthen their health and resilience."

The next Health Day for all employees will be held in June this year under the motto "Prevention instead of aftercare". Energiequelle currently employs 550 colleagues at 25 locations.
